

Where the information comes from

Sources (left) are read by the tools (middle), which write the files of the repository (right); the analysis and the public site are built from them. The routine runs the tools on weekdays at 05:15 UTC and opens a pull request; it is merged once the checks pass.

Built from public sources only; the private sources of the repository are not shown.